INTRODUCTION

As one of our aim is to encourage young people's initiative and autonomy we continue to do our best to make it possible, through various ways. Formally, we support collectives from Europe, especially those, for whom the current political and social situation is a challenge, to mention state restrictions or lack of resources, starting from money to end with lack of basic infrastructure. What is usually not missing among youths is a strong commitment, persistence and belief in social and environmental change. We are pleased to join their initiatives in order to collaborate, but also to observe how the new, revolutionary structures are formed. Informally, we strengthen our relations, get to now people, exchange skills and knowledge, so present within our constantly growing network.

In 2017 we had a chance to meet people not only during big events we were part of, but also small-scale workshops and trainings and meetings. It let us see the change happening on our eyes, from one meeting to another. It gave us a perfect opportunity to cooperate in the long-term process. We value it in particular due to stand against temporary, short-term and uncertain connections, typical for capitalistic society, which causes such a phenomenons like atomization, alienation or extremely individualistic approach.

As an office staff we learn a lot, from the groups and individuals of our network. We adjust the way of co-working based on diversity, respect and better understanding each other. The complex picture drew by people in power makes us live in unsustainable and hostile circumstances, but the power is taken back by people, courageous to oppose, creative and determined to propose alternative solutions.

Both, 2017 and upcoming activities motivate us to keep fighting for economical, environmental and social justice. If you wish to see some results check the whole report and join our network.

EYFA team

1.1. The EYFA story

EYFA (European Youth For Action) developed from a tour that was initiated by a Swedish/German group in 1986 to save the old forests in Europe: then named European Youth Forest Action. From these beginnings, EYFA has developed into a network of individuals, grassroots organisations and collectives working to transform local and international communities in their approach to environmental and social, political and economic positions.

1.2. What does EYFA do?

EYFA provides a platform and practical support for new radical ideas to grow into their full potential. The international office located in Berlin coordinates EYFA's activities through administrative and communication functions and being the network's contact point for sharing local information.

EYFA supports and encourages grassroots projects and initiatives in the following ways:

- Organising exchanges, forums, trainings, network gatherings, actions and projects of different kinds.
- Promoting innovative ways of working in the field of social and environmental activism (ie: participatory education, consensus-based decision-making, art and activism, free and open-source software, etc).
- Disseminating call outs and information on environmental and social justice issues.
- Giving advice, knowledge and support in planning and implementing projects, networking and a set of essential topics (facilitation of meetings, fundraising, strategising, dealing with conflict, campaigning, burn out and anti-oppression among others).

EYFA gives activists an international perspective, but it is very important to us that we keep our focus on the grassroots of social and ecological change. It is characteristic of EYFA that projects initiated by EYFA become independent sustainable long-term projects.

1.3. Who does EYFA support?

EYFA focuses particularly on youth initiated activities and projects. EYFA projects are mainly for young people, giving them the opportunity to act and encouraging them to be active on local and international levels. A special focus is put on providing access for groups to take part in international grassroots movements. EYFA always puts effort into including youth from all corners of the continent, with different social, geographical and cultural backgrounds. Grassroots groups:

combating xenophobia, homo-, trans- and queerphobia, racism, fascism, sexism, ableism and all other forms of exploitation and injustice.

promoting cultural diversity and the rights of women, LGBTIQ, indigenous, refugees, migrants, and other vulnerable minorities.

combating environmental degradation, ecosystem destruction and animal exploitation and promoting biological diversity.

promoting young people's access to social rights like health, housing and education.

1.4. EYFA's Vision

EYFA's main aim is to encourage young people's initiative and autonomy. EYFA strives for a world based on social, environmental and economic justice, in which people feel empowered to act and raise their voices on the issues that affect their lives. EYFA works to challenge the current dominant social and economic system while developing new ways of organising our communities based on environmental and social sustainability.

1.4.1. EYFA's Objectives

EYFA has three core objectives at the center of everything we do:

Capacity building:

To help groups develop the skills and knowledge to gain access to funding, training and the tools to articulate, debate and enact their ideas.

Civic engagement and participatory processes:

To support grassroots groups to critically engage with already existing decision-making processes and politics, and to develop more egalitarian and participatory alternatives..

Cross-regional Cooperation:

Developing closer cooperation through joint initiatives and the sharing of ideas, histories and experiences amongst grassroots groups working in different political and social contexts.

Social and Environmental Justice

EYFA's perspective is based on the understanding that social and environmental problems are deeply interlinked and are also expressed in patterns of economic injustice. Socially sustainable and just communities go hand in hand with environmentally sound ways of living. Sustainability and alternatives to the growth paradigm have always been part of EYFA's social justice projects and vice versa. EYFA's many climate justice, energy and environmental projects have aimed to draw the links between economic growth-obsession and the exploitation and destruction of our natural and human environment as well as excluding large populations from access to resources.

1.4.2. EYFA's Priorities

Over the course of EYFA's existence, the network has focused its energy on a wide variety of projects all across Europe. Out of these projects, patterns have emerged that point to some of EYFA's priorities.

Developed by the network, office and Board, and re-evaluated each year at network strategy meetings, these priorities provide focus for EYFA's work. While we prioritise these two areas, we continue to offer support to some groups whose work does not fall exclusively into one of these categories.

Inclusion

Social, cultural, institutional or individual beliefs and practices exist which privilege some human beings and exclude, by subordination and oppression, others based on attributes of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, class or caste, among many other distinctions. EYFA believes that social and economic exclusion are tied into histories of patriarchy and colonialism, as well as war, profit and power. These experiences have at times given rise to equally oppressive and excluding practices and policies. If we are to create a peaceful society free from hierarchy, exploitation and oppression that instead respects the autonomy and dignity of all human beings, the way these forces interact must be recognised and addressed. With our focus on supporting Eastern European groups, our current work includes many groups working to tackle issues of social and institutional exclusion, peace building, intercultural dialogue, gender inequality, right-wing extremism, nationalism, racism and homophobia.

1.5 EYFA's Structure

1.5.1. Decision-making

Decisions are made during different meetings throughout the year. During these meetings the following is discussed: old and new projects, focus of the network, strategies and future cooperation plans. Though we do often make use of on-line meetings and decision making tools, face-to-face yearly network meetings are crucial for our work, and informal network discussions take place alongside all EYFA events. EYFA board meetings are organized once a year at the EYFA office in Berlin. The board has better insight in the works of the office this way and with everything at hand it heightens practicality.

All organizational decisions are made through reaching consensus. The consensus is a decision-making process that fully utilizes the resources of a group, seeks the agreement of most participants, and resolves or mitigates the objections of the minority to achieve the most agreeable decision. Consensus is also used during all EYFA meetings, projects and events. EYFA functions on the belief that people in a group will relate to each other in a much more fair and productive way if everyone's contribution is considered and is equal to everyone else's. Consensus requires use of communication hand signals during meetings and decision making processes, and, sometimes, presence of trained facilitators and mediators.

1.5.3. EYFA Advisory Board

The 'Advisory Board' oversees the work of the office. The Board provides support and advice to the office – particularly in terms of strategy and finances.

Currently, there are three Board members, two of them used to be part of the office team. In both the office and the Board, effort is made to maintain balanced representation amongst the different corners of Europe.

1.5.2 EYFA's Office

EYFA has one international office, located in Berlin. The office coordinates EYFA's activities, including administrative and financial tasks, as well as big part of the communication functions of the network. This includes producing the EYFA newsletter, acting as an information and support point for organisations in the network and as a communication liaison between local and international projects.

The office is organised collectively and non-hierarchically, meaning that all staff and volunteers are expected to take an equitable role in day-to-day tasks and decision-making processes. From watering the plants to writing applications, tasks are shared and rotated amongst all of those in the office.

The office also acts as a 'training ground' for young people to develop various skills, such as project coordination, fund-raising and bookkeeping. EYFA does not require office staff to arrive already equipped with all the necessary knowledge and experience to carry out their tasks. Rather, the goal is to be a place where young people can work to develop skills in a supportive environment, learning-by-doing. It is normal for staff and volunteers to work in the office for 1-3 years, before moving on to share their new skills with other groups and projects.

1.5.3 EYFA Network

EYFA is a network that consists of individuals, collectives and organisations from all around Europe. There are no membership rules or fees required to join the EYFA network – EYFA is open to all current grassroots and alternative youth movements focusing on environmental, social justice and alternative economics and related issues.

The EYFA network is primarily used to share information, skills and resources. It connects groups working on similar topics around Europe, and groups wanting to share experiences or gain training from one another. The network acts as a way to connect local issues and struggles trans-nationally. In particular, the network works to connect groups in east and west Europe, building solidarity amongst different regions.

The EYFA Network has two permanent working groups, Network Strategy and East-West, which help the international office in Berlin identify the needs of groups in the network and decide where and on what issues upcoming gatherings should focus. This ensures that EYFA consistently works towards its aims of capacity building, participatory processes and East-West networking. For each EYFA project a temporary working group is also created to support the logistics and develop the content of the project. Sometimes these groups continue working together after the project's completion.

Typically, the network has one meeting each year where the priorities and strategy of the network are decided upon and projects and activities are developed. Between meetings, members can stay in touch via mailing lists and online calls. Like all EYFA meetings, decisions are made on a consensus basis.

PROJECTS

EYFA's work programme 2017 had building inclusive civil society as its general field of focus. In 2017 we provided a variety of capacity building activities for young people in Europe, with a main objective to increase skills and knowledge among young anti-war activists and those directly affected by conflict to facilitate their capacity development as active peace-builders.

The main project of 2017 was our Work plan "No More War! Grassroots youth developing inclusive platforms for peace" consisting of 3 international activities:

2.1. Resilience on demand: Gathering tools for sustainable youth-led peace activism

This activity provided a series of 13 small-scale trainings for youth groups interested in conflict resolution work. This project reached 165 youth (from UK, IT, SI, PL, DE, RS, MK, DK, ES, PT, AT, NL, RO) with trainings to develop the skills to deal with difficult situations within & outside the groups.

Workshop modules from ACT1 have been distributed via mailing list for wider stakeholder availability.

To widen the dissemination of the participatory methodology beyond these events, a methodological toolkit was also produced, compiling numerous best practices.

NETWORK ACTIONS & INITIATIVES/COACHED PROJECTS

3.1. Wheels 4 Action

Wheels 4 Action supports affordable transport for grassroots activists. They believe in freedom of movement, people overcoming distances and boundaries to take action for social and environmental justice. Collectivising the means of transport helps breaking social divisions. Their mission is to lower the threshold that grassroots activists meet in order to travel for their work due to lack of resources. They offer confidentiality and flexibility through good and secure communication.

Wheels for action is a self-organised international collective founded 2 years ago in Berlin. They make decisions by consensus and all the members are militant volunteers. The collective takes responsibility for the maintenance of our shared vehicle. W4A relationships are based on trust.

In 2017 we worked together several times and we can frankly say we appreciate it a lot. And by it we not at least mean a comfortable journey, what inspire us in an idea of sharing a commodity, also responsibility for well-being of all, including the nature.

3.2. The Forest

The Forest is a volunteer-run, collectively-owned, free arts and events project. They run a vegetarian café and a big block of studios and facilities to provide dedicated space for people to get involved in any creative activity imaginable. Their events have included music, theatre, dancing, yoga, massage, poetry recitals, art displays, knit-ins, book tours, language teaching, monsterbike making...and plenty more.

Forest is not sponsored by the government, city council or the arts council, and they do not exist for profit. They have been running a successful alternative business for years, thanks to the commitment of their large and enthusiastic team of volunteers. They are funded mostly by a vegetarian café, and to a lesser extent by the rental of facilities and the sale of books and records from Forest Projects. In keeping with their ethos that art should be accessible, all their events and workshops are free.

3.3. Ecotopia biketour 2017

Ecotopia Biketour is a self-organized environmental and social activist bicycle tour that has been cycling through different parts of Europe each summer since 1990. Visiting social and environmental projects and groups on its way, to learn about their struggles and visions, to exchange knowledge, to create connections and to support them by participating in actions or doing some physical work.

Ecotopia Biketour 2017 started in the end of June in Strasbourg, France and ended almost 3 months later in Catalunya, near Barcelona.

3.4. "Enjoy volunteering/Mutual Aid mission"

(as EVS sending organization in partnership with Aps Yard "Associazione di Promozione Sociale")

This EVS project took place between 01.02.2017 and 30.09.2017 in a neighborhood in Milano where, in the face of socio-economic hardship and lack of opportunities, many third sector organizations seek to answer through the creation of social and cultural measures aimed at encouraging the participation and active citizenship.

EVS volunteers were involved in the association's activities and through the guidance of the operators they learned to act a positive change in relation to the following themes:

- intercultural dialog, Promotion of culture, solidarity, combating discrimination.

3.5. "Lika Eco-Art Youth"

(as EVS sending organization in partnership with "Udruga Kltura I edukacija" (Culture and Education Association))

The association was established in order to promote, develop and improve the development of transdisciplinary strategies in culture and sustainable development.

This EVS project in a field of culture, sustainable development and personal development started on 15.02.2016 and end on 15.02.2017 in Lovinac, Croatia. EYFA had a role of coordinating and sending organization and successfully recruited a volunteer from Germany, who fully fitted the profile.

3.6. URBB

With the slogan "Stop the War on Migrants" the group URBB initiated a sit-in in Berlin on the 6. February 2017, to remember the killing of more than 15 people who were trying to cross the border between Morocco and Spain in 2014. The sit-in was followed by a conference. Beforehand the group mobilized participants with a tour through different migrant detention centers.

URBB is hosting a commemorative action every year on the 6th February to reflect together and come up with political demands regarding the situation of refugees on Europe's and Germany's borders.

3.7. Somo Circus

The group "SOMO*CIRCUS" wants to contribute to overcoming social exclusion and racism through theatre and circus. In the southeast of Turkey they established a mobile circus project which was travelling for three months through different cities and villages, offering circus workshops for children and youth. The project made the life of the children in the war-affected area a bit more colorful and created a space where children could express and exchange with each other.

3.8. Berlin border solidarity

Nine No Border activists went on a tour to Macedonia to show direct solidarity where it is needed and where the situation of refugees is most precarious due to the European Border regime. They were travelling with a bus to bring donations, informational material and to support the local refugee support structures with cooking. For two months they were supporting refugees on the so-called Balkan-route.

3.9. Coal Action Network

With the project 'Ditch Coal', the Coal Action Network continued their fight alongside community groups against opencast coal mines and infrastructure throughout the UK. 'Ditch coal' targets the remaining 7 coal power stations in the UK with their campaigns and direct action in attempt to reduce climate change and support communities living in the shadow of coal mines at home and abroad.

3.10. Eroles (Granada)

Members of Borderless collective, the group formed from one of Eroles' previous summer residencies, initiated an extremely exciting regeneration project near Granada, Spain. This project will consist of purchasing and regenerating an abandoned village outside Granada, together with and for refugees. The vision is for the village to be self-sustaining after a few years, applying permaculture principles and circular economics. A 6-month kick-off course in Permaculture principles for refugee and migrants began in autumn 2017, with more elements of the project on the horizon. On a political level, the project aims to create a different model or approach to the assimilation process that forced migrants currently endure.

3.11. Mobilen Werkstätten

The Mobilen Werkstaetten is a network of carpenters, craftspeople, artists, students and workers who are shaping their new space together in Berlin. In addition to the mobile workshops which they already have (metal, wood, theatre) and are already using in the neighbourhood, they are building a mobile bike workshop to expand their outreach to more remote areas of their neighbourhood and offer bike repairs as well as teaching cycling basics. All of their projects are aimed at bringing together neighbours to exchange and cultivate solidarity amongst each other.
